The Tokyo Metropolitan Government Building, officially recognized by GUINNESS WORLD RECORDS™ for its projection area of about 14,000m², is transformed into a massive playing field.

With dynamic visuals, the show powerfully portrays the fierce battles among Isagi, Nagi, Rin, and their many rivals. Experience the thrill and intensity of “BLUE LOCK” as if you were inside a real stadium!

Introduction by Jinpachi Ego

The story begins with a declaration from the mysterious Jinpachi Ego, announcing the launch of the “BLUE LOCK” project.

“To make Japan the best soccer nation in the world, there’s only one thing we need: a truly revolutionary striker.”

And with that, the mad ambition to create the world’s greatest striker; the “BLUE LOCK” project is set into motion.

Isagi's Past and the Moment of Regret

In the prefectural final of the High School Soccer Championship, forward Yoichi Isagi hesitates and passes instead of shooting, costing his team a spot at nationals.

While drowning in regret, he receives an invitation from Ego to join “BLUE LOCK”, a choice that will change his life forever.

BLUE LOCK Selection - Growing Together with Rivals

300 forwards from across Japan gather to compete for a single goal: becoming the world's greatest striker.

Through the first and second selection stages, battles alongside and against his teammates and rivals, clashing their egos as they grow stronger.

Epilogue - Beyond Victory

Even after the battles end, Isagi's eyes continue to burn with determination.

Thus, the "BLUE LOCK" project moves on to Phase 2.
